COOJ BAY, OREGON

GREETINGS—to each and every one of you. With this little catalog we are passing our third milestone. In May of last year my daughter Norma Jeanne and I moved to Coos Bay, which is 18 miles nearer the coast than we were at Coquille. Coos Bay is a fast-growing little seaport city where we found friendly people, improved shipping facilities, and better land in which to grow our precious bulbs.

We grew and tested many varieties new to us, but of these only a small per cent will be grown and catalogued, the rest will be put in a super deluxe mixture, as many are new and expensive varieties, but they are too similar to other fine Daffodils.

You will note that we are using the new and revised system for the classification of all Narcissus, effective January 1, 1950, and which should be used for all Daffodil shows this coming spring.

DOWN THE DAFFODIL PATH

ODE TO OREGON

It is not raining rain to me, It's raining Daffodils; In every dimpled drop I see My Flowers on yonder hills.

First of all buy good bulbs, early, usually you can plant as soon as they are received. Daffodils are so easy to grow but should be planted in well drained soil, which can be enriched with bone meal, or a combination of bone meal and some potash in some parts of the country. Old barnyard fertilizer, if it has been spaded in for some time previous to planting, is beneficial. One of the greatest needs of Daffodils is moisture from the time that they are planted; all thru the south where rainfall is light, the beds should be soaked regularly in order to produce good foliage and big blossoms. Bulbs, large trumpets should be planted from five to six inches from the top of the soil, smaller bulbs less deep in proportion, these should be left in the some location and only cultivated and with bone meal dug in each year, as soon as the foliage appears, for at least four years for best results. Foliage should never be pulled or cut off until it has entirely died down, as it takes the foliage to build next year's blossoms and bulbs. We like to plant Daffodils in among peonies, and back of tall German Iris, as the Iris hides the Daffodil foliage. Also may be planted among your roses and in front of shrubbery.

TERMS: Please send your order early, as we start planting September 1st. No orders taken or shipped after October 25th. We guarantee all bulbs to be true to name and healthy, should any prove to be otherwise, please do tell us that we may have the chance to replace same. We will send postpaid all orders for $3.00 and over, for less please include 35c postage. To anyone allowing us to ship express collect we will send the equivalent, your choice of extra bulbs. 12 bulbs will be sent for the price of 10.

YOUR ORDER BY AUGUST 1ST WILL BRING A RICH REWARD IN EXTRA BULBS, OUR CHOICE, BUT YOU MAY DESIGNATE DESIRED VARIETIES

DAFFODIL FLOWER SHOW BULLETIN

This is a new department, one which we hope will become very popular with our friends, and one which we earnestly beg all Daffodil flower show chairmen to cooperate with us by sending their schedules and newspaper write-ups immediately after the show. In all instances we would also like, the Daffodil winning the grand prize, or the outstanding blossom in the show; the most beautiful Daffodil blossom in the show, etc.

A great many Daffodil shows were cancelled all over the United States on account of sudden storms or inclement weather, and others were not reported to us, but we do take pleasure in announcing what information we have on the following:

weather, and others were not reported to us, but we do take pleasure in amounting under the lowing:

March 31st—The Seven Hills Garden Club of Lynchburg, Va., held their show at Fort Hill Club, report sent us by Mrs. W. Aubrey Chenault; we do not have a newspaper clipping giving awards, but the schedule is a very nice one; arrangement class especially interesting. The show was very lovely, and made more so by a fine exhibit from the test garden maintained by the Garden Club Federation of Virginia.

March 31st—Norman Council of Garden Clubs, Norman Oklahoma; held their 3rd annual show. The schedule is most complete and up to date, using the new R. H. S. Narcissus classification. Mrs. Flora Zenor of Oklahoma City and Mrs. Lois Remy of Norman, kindly sent schedules and clippings. Mrs. Guy Y. Williams was sweepstakes winner, with Mrs. J. L. Rader winning the grand prize.

April 9th and 10th—Garden Club of Indiana held their eighth annual show at Indianapolis, Indiana, carrying out the theme of "Springtime in Indiana." This schedule was very fine, we especially liked the arrangement classes of "springtime compositions" which showed great originality. A new yellow trumpet, called "William the Silent," was the outstanding blossom in this show. We do not have the sweepstakes winner; theschedule was very graciously sent by Mrs. Florence Kildow of Alexandria, Indiana.

Alexandria, Indiana.

April 9th—The Men's Garden Club of Coos Bay, Oregon, held their third annual show in the lobby of the Tioga Hotel, making a beautiful show room. The sweepstakes winner was Mr. Roy E. Bone, who had a very fine collection of well grown Daffodil blossoms.

April 14th—Topeka's 13th annual Daffodil show, held at the Municipal auditorium, Topeka, Kansas. Severe stormy weather cut down the number of exhibits of this show. The sweepstakes winner was Mrs. E. F. Wilson. Their schedule was large and very complete, with exhibitors entering every class. Report sent us by Mrs. Daisy L. Ferrick.

Third annual Daffodil show was held by the Gadsden Federation of Garden Clubs, Gadsden, Alabama, but we do not have either schedule or report.

April 19th—Birmingham Federation of Garden Clubs, Birmingham, Alabama, held their fifth annual Daffodil show in the Thomas Jefferson Hotel. They carried out the theme of "Trends—Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." The sweepstakes winners were Dr. Estes H. Hargis, Mrs. Louise Johnson and Mrs. R. J. Wheeler. Visitors at the show were invited to join a motorcade to view Dr. Hargis' country home of "Daffodil Hill." An especially large and complete schedule was most interesting, with report, sent us by Mrs. H. M. Norwood.
